5. The research grant is compatible with attendance at PhD courses without scholarship in the scientific-disciplinary fields related to the research activities related to the grant, provided that such attendance is authorized by the Director of the Department or Structure, subject to the favorable opinion of the Scientific Responsible for the research.
6. Holders of research grants for the experimental and clinical medical sciences, in correlation with the needs aimed at their research activity and compatible with the latter, may also carry out assistance activities, upon the reasoned proposal of the Department or Structure, after consultation with the Scientific Responsible for the research and subject to formal agreement between the University and the relevant health facilities.
7. Consistent with the research tasks assigned to them, the holders of research grants may, with the prior written authorization of the Scientific Head of Research, participate in the performance of research and consultancy for third parties commissioned to the University pursuant to Article 66 of Presidential Decree 382/80 and in the sharing of the Holders of research grants, subject to the authorization of the Director of the Department or Structure in agreement with the Scientific Responsible for Research, may present research projects of the University of Perugia and assume scientific responsibility for them provided that the duration of said projects is equal to or less than the natural duration of the research grant, renewals and extensions excluded, and provided that such activity is compatible with the commitments arising from the research activity related to the grant they hold. Sufficiently in advance of the expiration of the term of the contract, the holder of the check must prepare a report on the activity carried out, countersigned by the Scientific Responsible of the research and accompanied by any publications, including those in progress, patents and anything else that may prove useful for the evaluation of the research conducted, and submit it promptly to the Council of the Department or Structure that proposed the award of the check.

Compulsory leave due to pregnancy and leave due to illness or injury of the research grant holder do not result in the termination of the contractual relationship, which remains suspended, without payment of consideration, except for maternity benefits payable under Article 5 of the Decree of the Minister of Labor and Social Security of July 12, 2007, and sick leave payable under Article 1, Paragraph 788 of Law No. 296 of December 27, 2006. Suspension of the relationship in the above cases results in the extension of the duration of the contract equal to the period of suspension. During the period of compulsory maternity leave, the allowance paid by INPS under Article 5 of the aforementioned Decree of July 12, 2007 is supplemented by the University up to the full amount of the research grant.

Industrial property rights to the results achieved by the grantee on behalf of the University in the performance of his or her research activities shall be subject to the provisions of the University's Industrial and Intellectual Property Regulations in effect at the time of the achievement of the results.

2. The University is entitled to terminate the contract with immediate effect if the suspension of the contractual relationship resulting from the illness or injury of the research grant holder lasts for a period exceeding one-sixth of the total duration of the relationship established in the contract.

3. The resolution to exercise the right of withdrawal shall be adopted by the Board of the Department or Structure that proposed the grant.

4. The grant holder may terminate the contract at any time by giving at least thirty days' written notice addressed to the Dean. Failure to do so will result in the withholding of the amount equivalent to the compensation due for the period of notice not given.

The research grant holder, who intends to terminate the contract, is required to give at least 30 days' notice to the relevant Structure and the Competitions Office.
