Marco Mazzoni, Ph.D, is Full Professor in Communication Sociology at the Department of "Scienze Politiche", University of Perugia. He teaches "Mass Communication" and "Lobbying and Public Relations" in the course of "Scienze della Comunicazione". His main research interests are Journalism, Mass media systems, Political communication, Corruption and the Theories of lobbying and public relations.

Mazzoni is PI of research project "SOcial media and civic Mobilization as MOnitoring toolS in the SociAl construction of corruption" (SOMMOSSA) funded by PRIN PNRR; and he is leader of Perugia unit of research project "Fandom democracy? Celebrity and new forms of citizens' engagement" funded by MUR-PRIN 2022.

Mazzoni has presented papers in major national and international conferences: Society Italy Political Science Conference (SISP), Italian Association of Sociology Conference (AIS), Conference of the American Political Science Association (APSA), European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), International Association Communication (ICA), European Communication Research and Education Association (ECREA), and European Sociological Association (ESA).

His articles have been published in The International Journal of Press/Politics, Contemporary Italian Politics, European Journal of Communication, Journalism, Journalism Studies, Celebrity Studies, International Journal of Cultural Studies, European Journal of Cultural Studies, Sociologica, Perspective on European Politics and Society, Comunicazione Politica, Comunicazioni Sociali, Ocula, Etica Pubblica, POLIS, Sociologia Urbana e Rurale, Società Mutamento Politica, Problemi dell'Informazione, and International Journal of Strategic Communication, Journalism & Mass Communication Quarterly, Italian Political Science, Journal for Cultural Research.